

Coaching, Leadership Development and Speaker Testimonials Andrea Gallien

This document is provided for discussion purposes only Proprietary and Confidential

EQ-in-Action
Certified in EQ Assessment

Keith Maxwell

I worked with Andrea as an Executive Coach on the issues of time management and delegation. As a result of our work together, I asked her to work with many others on my leadership team. We all benefitted from Andrea's business acumen, the ease of working with her, and her coaching expertise. Keith Maxwell, CEO, Spark Energy

GlobalStar Coaching & Consulting, LLC

Jill Leitner

I really enjoyed the time that I spent with Andrea. I respect and appreciate the feedback that she provided. I believe that I got excellent value from the coaching I received. Jill Leitner, Senior Director of HR, Spark Energy

John Jordan

I had a great experience working with Andrea as a coach in a CIO position, so it was a no brainer for me to rely on her when I was considering a career transition to an entrepreneurial endeavor as well as facing a major life event. The answers and directions I was searching for were easy to see in hindsight, but not so easy to see in the moment. Andrea helped me reach clarity and unlock the decisions I was searching for during my journey. John Jordan, Owner, JSJ Digital, LLC

Todd Thoman

Andrea has an amazing “sixth sense” when reading others. This has a big benefit and has resulted in meaningful long term impact. I would highly recommend her! Todd Thoman, President, Ampegy, My Medic Team

John Rutledge

Andrea did a great job of coaching me to enhance my communication skills. She was very perceptive at picking up and identifying key issues and working with me on them. I really liked getting a summary after the meeting and it served as a good reminder of some of the finer points of our discussion. Thanks for a job well done; I enjoyed the coaching very much. John Rutledge, North American Business Manager - Mining Solutions, BASF

Melissa Arriaga Clark

I worked with Andrea on work-life issues – balancing work with my own personal values. I needed to be more assertive more confident in representing my interests and value as a professional and as a woman. I was able to gain an increased sense of confidence that I had not held previously. It encouraged me to be more proactive in taking action. Through coaching, I was able to find “my voice.” , Melissa Arriaga Clark, Business Transformation Leader, Sysco Foodservice

Diane Magers

As a result of working with Andrea, I gained some additional self-awareness. I was able to communicate during the coaching exercises in succinct terms, but lost confidence during the actual interactions. I need to gain confidence in my leadership skills and recognize the need to delegate. Coaching helped me take a more managerial approach to my work. Diane Magers, Customer Experience Executive

Ken Ziober

Andrea provided me with positive support and suggestions for direction in both my personal and professional development during times when I needed it most. At a time when our company was going through an unusually high rate of change, I felt Andrea was there as my personal advocate helping to guide me through and I'm very thankful for that help. Ken Ziober, Executive Vice President, Associated Energy

Roger Clarkson

From my perspective my coaching relationship with Andrea was outstanding and delivered more than anyone could expect, both professionally as well as personally. Andrea was extremely committed to the relationship, came to each call very prepared and helped me to move forward into new territories. Andrea was both professional and caring as a person. Andrea's summary notes were very helpful and were able to link some dots for me and further my learning from the meeting. Roger Clarkson, Founder and Principal, Roger Clarkson & Associates

Emily Yang

GlobalStar Coaching & Consulting, LLC

Coaching with Andrea was a transformative experience. Yes, she is there to listen, prompt, support, and hold me to commitments to myself. However, the greatest benefit from working with Andrea is the combination of her business experience and her heart. She understands the multifaceted demands of leadership, but coaches in a way that simplifies the most complex of issues to making decisions based on one's core values. I consider my time working with Andrea to be a watershed in my career and personal development. I am confident that my subsequent success will be built upon the foundation laid by working with Andrea. Emily Yang, Vice President, North Highland

Kristen Pforr

Andrea helped me clearly define key areas to focus on for my development. Throughout the process, she asked me questions that made me really evaluate what I wanted to do and why. Andrea helped me weather a difficult career hurdle and helped turn it into a tremendous learning experience. As a result, I am a more confident and a better leader for my team. Kristen Pforr, Production Director, BASF

Jeff Shoaf

Andrea is a great listener and does an excellent job at asking probing questions to get to root issues. She helped me to think about things from different angles and pushed me to take actions that I might not otherwise have taken. I also felt that Andrea genuinely cared about me. Working with her was a great experience. Jeff Shoaf, Senior Vice President, Amerex Energy Services

Vaidehi Sheth

Andrea was the lead facilitator for the Women's Business Association at the Kellogg School of Management. She did a great job engaging the panel as well as the MBA students around the topic of "Can Women Have it All?" I would highly recommend Andrea as a speaker and facilitator on this important topic. Vaidehi Sheth, Kellogg MBA, Class of 2014

Kara Stovall-Diaz

Andrea provided a half-day workshop on the topic of “Improving Intergender Communications.” Her workshop was received extremely well by the 300+ participants across multiple sites. She provided a nice balance of deep content, humor, and audience participation in the workshop. I would highly recommend her as a speaker. Kara Stovall-Diaz, Business Project Manager, BASF

Jennifer Beall

“Andrea spoke to our Leadership group at the Kellogg School of Business at my request. Her topic was “Leadership in the time of Stress and Uncertainty.” Andrea was able to relate her real life experience in a way that was meaningful and impactful to a room full of future business leaders from Kellogg. Her presentation style was engaging and her message was concise and thought provoking. Jennifer Beall, Founder & CEO at CleanBeeBaby, LLC.

Contact information

Please contact Andrea at:

Email: Andrea@GlobalStarcc.com

Office Phone: +1.409.497.4713

Mobile Phone: +1.713.858.2442

Address: 1 Evia Main

Galveston, TX 77554

" I look forward to hearing from you. I would welcome an opportunity to help you achieve your professional and personal vision."

- Andrea Gallien